

Mental Health Support System

Mood History Report

von

Notes
When you feel sadness, it's important to acknowledge your feelings. Embrace the emotions that come with it, for they are a part of the human experience. Talking to a trusted friend or writing them down can provide relief. Remember, it's okay to seek comfort in small joys, whether it's a favorite song, a warm cup of tea, or a cozy blanket. Allow yourself the time to heal, and know that brighter days are ahead.
sad